

I do not think this is a good idea, as it will erradicate both shortwave reception, and ham radio operation. Both of which are essential in times of emergency. Especially with the increase in terrorist activities here and abroad.